The Tenant of Wildfell Hall

by Anne Bronte (1820-1849)

A mysterious young widow arrives with her young son at Wildfell Hall, a mansion which has been empty for many years. She lives there under an assumed name, Helen Graham, and very soon finds herself the victim of local slander. Refusing to believe anything scandalous about her, Gilbert Markham discovers her dark secrets. In her diary Helen writes about her husband's physical and moral decline through alcohol and the world of debauchery and cruelty from which she has fled. This passionate novel of betrayal is set within a moral framework tempered by Anne's optimistic belief in universal salvation. The Tenant of Wildfell Hall is considered to be one of the first feminist novels.
